

REYNO H TREAT DRY GOODS

The people appreciate CHOICE, SEASONABLE DRY GOODS at Bargain Prices. We are showing New SILK MITTS, HANDKERCHIEFS and NECKWEAR, in Great Variety

Reyno H. Treat, No. 209 North Main Street.

The Lima Daily Times. The Times-Democrat Publishing Co. O. B. SELFIDGE, JR., GEN'L MANAGER. TELEPHONE CALL, No. 84. A. FLEMING, CITY EDITOR.

TOM'S TROUBLE. An Exaggerated Account of a Cincinnati Killing. Tom Burns, superintendent here for Sherman and Burt, the Cincinnati builders, who have the contract for the Cincinnati and Metropolitan blocks was hit this morning by the Republican bot used a statement this morning that "Peggy" Ryan, Hamilton county deputy sheriff, came here on Tuesday, arrested Burns and took him to Cincinnati to plead to an indictment for manslaughter for the killing of Edward Vogel in an election room last spring. The facts are that Burns was indicted more than three weeks ago and simply went down to Cincinnati to renew his bond, at the same same time taking home his little boy Dan, whom he had here with him for a couple of weeks. Neither Ryan nor any other officer came for him, and the case has never been called. As far as the killing of Vogel is concerned there is some question as to whether it can be laid at the door of Burns. He and Vogel had trouble before, and Burns was shot by Vogel who threatened to kill him on the day of election. Vogel got after Burns with a pistol, and fired at him several times. Burns had no weapon and ran into a meat shop and secured a knife and began using it. By this time the row had become general. Vogel was not killed outright, perhaps not then. His death was attributed to a blow on the head, and Burns had nothing with which to strike except his fists, and it is now of record that Vogel was killed by a blow from Burns' fists. Burns had no trouble in getting him, and the case against him is considered a thin one as Vogel was drunk and wild, and went away from the scene of his attack and possibly got into another row in which he received his death blow even supposing the blow from which he died was struck in the melee in which Burns was forced to engage in self defense, there is a strong presumption that Burns did not strike it, unless he has a lot like a trip hammer.

CAPTAIN FRESH He Paid Lima a Visit Yesterday. A good looking youth of twenty, or thereabouts, rushed into the TIMES office last evening apparently in a frightful state of excitement, and told a story of the loss he didn't say how, when $125, a draft for $50 and a couple of drafts for larger amounts. He wanted to advertise but was too late. He registered at the Burnet House at 12th Street, Albany, N. Y., and put up as security for his bill a pretty gold watch, which, he said, cost $125. He went out during the evening and brought in a couple of small boxes, took them to his room, and shortly appeared in a striped summer suit, with cap to match, and wearing diamonds. He talked freely of his loss and drank a good deal. Perhaps it was on this account he could not tell a coherent story or stand the cross examination of several commercial travelers, to whom he made several contradictory statements which led to the belief that D. M. Miller and his story was a sort of fraud. He is known to have come to town earlier than he stated to some parties, and when he was noticed first he had not in the air of a fellow who had lost anything. About eight o'clock this morning he paid his bill at the Burnet got his watch and departed.

A Fatal Mistake. The month old child of Cloyd McLean, of Perry township, which little one died on Monday last was the victim of an indiscreet practice of which too many mothers are guilty. Mrs. McLean had to come to the city to have a number of teeth pulled, and left the child with its grandmother. Deceiving that the baby which was something across should give the old lady a little trouble as possible its mother gave it half a small pill about one-sixth of a grain of morphine to put it to sleep while she was gone. This was about 11 o'clock and the mother had not left the house before the baby began to show symptoms of poisoning by the opiate. The child went into a comatose state and about one o'clock began to turn black. A physician was hurriedly brought, but too late to save the little one's life. The mother is almost distracted over the fatal consequences of her rash act.

Ladies Corsets, Silk Mitts, Kid Gloves, Ladies and Gents Underwear and Hosiery at 65c on the dollar at Selvey's 27-7

THE FATAL R. R. CROSSING. Mrs. Catharine Stewart and Grandson Struck by a Fast Express. Slight Prospect of Their Recovery. A very serious accident happened yesterday afternoon at the crossing of the Lima and Delphos road with the F. F. railroad. The limited express train that left here at 3:31 standard time, was in charge of Conductor Craig and Engineer Adams. Approaching the crossing, which is about 300 feet from the Anguize river bridge close to which is a water tank, on the north side of the railroad, Adams saw a buggy ahead with an unmanageable horse and two persons in the vehicle. He whistled the alarm but the horse was so frightened, or balky that he refused to get off the track. Adams reversed the engine, but it was too late to stop the train in time to prevent the crash. The horse and buggy were both tossed aside as the engine passed over the crossing. The engine was brought to a standstill near the bridge over the Anguize river, and the crew ran back to the scene of the accident. The horse was dead, and the buggy a complete wreck. It had been raised by the pilot and its occupants thrown with it against the fence, fully twenty feet. One was an old woman. Her scalp was cut clear across the top of the head, falling over like a flap, and the blood from the lacerated arteries was pouring down her face and all over her in a crimson stream. She was also badly bruised about the body but was able to sit up on the ground and say her name was Stewart, though she soon after became unconscious. Her companion was a boy of about 11. His left arm was broken in two places and he was badly cut about the face, and bruised about the body. His forehead was split in two places. Both the injured ones were quickly placed upon the train, and taken to Delphos for surgical aid. The wonder was that they were not both killed outright and the trainmen were fearful that the old woman, at least, might die before medical assistance could be rendered. The woman proved to be the widow of Nicholas Stewart, who died about a year ago. He was a well to do farmer of Marion township and left surviving him the widow and a number of grown up children. Married yesterday by Mrs. Stewart left her home, about a mile and a half northwest of Lima with a load of horses and chickens to sell at Delphos, taking along with her a grand son. She drove on the road leading westward from her home crossed the railroad freely at Elias J. Cost's and turned at a hotel house No 7 to go northward on the Lima and Delphos road, leading along the east bank of the river. This road crosses the school house a furlong from the school house. The country thereabouts is level and open so that trains can be seen approaching from a considerable distance either way by persons driving north or south on the pike. Had it not been that the horse became stubborn just at the wrong time Mrs. Stewart and her grandson could easily have avoided the train. As it was they were caught in a death trap midway between their home and their destinies.

THE SCHOOL BOARD Progress of the South Side School. A Letter to the Public. The School Board met last night in the Mayor's office, Dr. Hall in the chair, President Probert being absent. An application from Cynthia Shoemaker for a position as teacher was received and filed. The bill of $112,500, $70,000, for constructing the foundation of the new South Side school house, was ordered paid. Instructions were given for the purchase of desks for the new school building. Superintendent Greenwald was instructed to prepare and publish an explanation of why the Board decided to make a change of readers in the schools and why the board considers the series chosen preferable to those now in use.

HIS REASONS. Ten years ago the Appleton Readers were adopted by the Board of Education of this city and have been used in our schools to the present time. At the time of their adoption these readers were undoubtedly the best in print and they have done good service in the cause of education. Few people will dispute this statement. Yet to say that the best readers now in use or that having done good service in the past, they are good enough for the present and also for the next ten or more years is to ignore their worth and disregard the improvements in text books during the last decade. The progress in the science of teaching and the increasing needs and demands of the times.

A change of readers affecting 9000 pupils is an important measure. It should not be rashly undertaken and should not be made until the best interests of the schools demanded it. Then when a change is considered desirable and is determined upon great care and good judgment should be exercised to secure if possible the best readers that can be obtained. Without going into unnecessary and tiresome details we wish to state briefly the advantages of the new books over the old terms and method of making the exchange. The Appleton readers are not systematized and carefully graded. The Harper's is far as can be judged without actual class work, are carefully and thoroughly graded. This is a very important feature. The publishers of the Appleton readers have recognized and have tried to remedy this defect in their books by publishing three additional books to be used in connection with the first four readers of their series. One to be used with the 1st and 2nd readers and one to be used between the 3rd and 4th readers. This means that to do the best seven books must be bought to supply our schools. We have not gone to the extent of buying these extra books and therefore have been working at a disadvantage. The Harper's does away with this trouble by supplying what is necessary in the regular series at the same or less cost than the four Appleton readers and thus saving to pupils the cost of three extra books. A second important advantage of the Appleton is in the amount of reading matter. The Appleton's as well as most of the readers, do not furnish enough reading matter. Many schools to meet the deficiency have introduced supplementary readers. This requires an extra cost more reading than the Appleton's and cost a little less.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION At Dayton, Ohio on Tuesday, Wednesday, August 27, 28, and 29, A. D. 1889. HEADQUARTERS DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 15th 1889. The Democrats of Ohio are hereby notified to meet in delegate convention at Dayton Ohio on Tuesday and Wednesday August 27th and 28th 1889 to nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, President, Attorney General, Treasurer, Auditor, and State Commissioner of Common Schools.

Table with columns: County, Delegates, Counties, Delegates. Lists delegates from various Ohio counties for the Democratic State Convention.

THE COUNTY OFFICES. Newry Notes Picked Up Round the Court House. The caption and plot of the Larwood abduction in Indiana by R. H. (C) into story was noted with interest by the reporter.

OIL AND GAS. THE CITY JULY 18. On July 18th the market closed at 10 1/2 per cent over yesterday's close. There was a steady rise during the hour and the market closed strong.

Table with columns: Rank, Price, Introduction. Lists prices for various ranks of books.

A Brilliant Array. The following musical talent has kindly consented to assist in the Apollo concert to be held at the Metropolitan Church, Sunday morning and evening. The lecturers will be: Mr. J. M. Miller, Mrs. J. M. Miller, C. G. Thompson, John Miller, Mrs. J. M. Miller and G. M. Richmond.

FOR SEVENTEEN YEARS. LOCUSTS BURROW THAT LONG, BUT HAVE ONE LONG GAY SEASON. Facts About the Brilliant Career of This Unaffiliated Nuisance-The Female Widened Early, Don't Pile Away, but Go Right Down to Business. The seventeen year locusts pass seventeen years underground, and then, as if by preconcerted arrangement, make their appearance out of little holes most simultaneously, and in numbers that run far up into the millions. This is always done after sunset, and by 10 o'clock the same night the hordes have appeared. They are not very active when they first appear out of their subterranean homes but they make what speed they can toward the nearest trees, and climb them to the lower leaves, where they fairly swarm sometimes as many as thirteen pupae clinging to one oak leaf. These which are related either to the locusts of the tropics or to those that get that far-faster their claws to the first convenient object and wait for the great transformation which is to convert them from ugly crawling things of silence and gloom into gorgeous things of the air and the sunlight, the males enveloped with musical powers, and both sexes clad in gay suits of orange and black, with gossamer wings of iridescent hues. But a few minutes elapse after the pupae have secured a resting place before the dull skins begin to crack along the back.

COMING WITH DRUMS. Then the imprisoned cicada works his way to freedom, at the first a soft, white thing but quickly developing wings and beating hard and active. For the most part it does not require more than ten minutes for the soft persons to be come a perfect cicada, though sometimes an hour or several hours are required to produce the final cocoon. The males are of a dark color and are to be seen and they herald the first dawn of their new existence by trying their drums, for their usual apparatus is in effect drum like. Their music is rather feeble, but in a little while it becomes the proper accompaniment of their song, and they begin to sing. Their song is a soft, low note, and it is that the noise of the swarms can be heard fully a mile away, and is positive by their wing when close at hand. The male cicada eats very little while waiting for the female to appear, and the little is in the form of sap from the trees the luck of which is slightly punctured for the juice to exude. The coming of the females is hailed by the male with an increased note, and for a few days the air is thick with the flying insects, so much so that the sun is obscured for small areas in a few days after this the males die gradually and the females busy themselves with the task of egg laying. Each female will lay in the neighborhood of 200 eggs in the manner in which she lays them is usually remarkable. She selects a young tree and with a singular apparatus, placed an ovipositor, bore holes in regular order along the under side of the leaf, into a single egg is regularly laid. Each hole is filled with a cocoon of a most ingenious contrivance and is composed of three parts one part being an oval with walls to pierce and two parts being the egg and a small cocoon. After the cocoon has been made the female then enters the hole and deposits an egg. The ovipositor is a most ingenious contrivance and is composed of three parts one part being an oval with walls to pierce and two parts being the egg and a small cocoon. After the cocoon has been made the female then enters the hole and deposits an egg. The ovipositor is a most ingenious contrivance and is composed of three parts one part being an oval with walls to pierce and two parts being the egg and a small cocoon.

THE SHOE SHOP! 125 WEST HIGH ST. Is the Only First-Class One in the City. Most purchases comparative worth merit or value of the different makes of instruments and therefore have to rely upon the statements of them from whom they purchase.

The Whitney & Currier Co., 119 East High St. Dealers in BOARDMAN & GRAY, BRIGGS, Schubert, Wheelock And other Pianos. PALACE ORGANS. Most purchasers of a Piano or Organ do not know the comparative worth merit or value of the different makes of instruments and therefore have to rely upon the statements of them from whom they purchase. Our patrons can depend upon finding our goods just as represented.

The Shoe Shop! 125 WEST HIGH ST. Is the Only First-Class One in the City. Most purchases comparative worth merit or value of the different makes of instruments and therefore have to rely upon the statements of them from whom they purchase.

DR. JAS. E. ANDERSON, The Celebrated Specialist and ORTHOPEDIC SURGEON, of Indianapolis, Ind., is now at the Burnet House, Lima, SIX DAYS ONLY. Those suffering from any of the many distressing symptoms that manifest themselves as result of any time of life can indicate at any time of life, can indicate at any time of life, can indicate at any time of life.

THE ALLEN CO. 4,000 Copies. The combined circulation of The Times, Democrat and the other English papers printed an excellent...

DR. JAS. E. The Celebrated Specialist and ORTHOPEDIC SURGEON, of Indianapolis, Ind., is now at the Burnet House, Lima, SIX DAYS ONLY.

DR. JAS. E. ANDERSON, The Celebrated Specialist and ORTHOPEDIC SURGEON, of Indianapolis, Ind., is now at the Burnet House, Lima, SIX DAYS ONLY.