LINCOLN BOY DROWNED

Lawrence Sears Goes Camping at Milford and Drowns in the Blue

At 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon, while bathing in the Blue river just north of Milford, Lawrence Sears, a well known university boy living on J street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second, was drowned.

A crowd soon gathered and a search was begun for the body. The comrades of the boy could not locate it, so a young man named from Sevard, proffered his help.

The four boys who had been away from the camp for a short while only in Lincoln in the camp wagon and placed it in the water. He had been in the water only about twenty minutes, and the attending physician said cramps had probably been the cause of his death.

FOUR HUNDRED TENTS PITCHED AT THE PARK

Yesterday having been a rainy day, many of the speakers at the Nebraska Republican assembly in Lincoln, Neb., were practically everywhere in the grounds in the work of the tent.

The tents pitched on the grounds numbered three hundred and fifty and four hundred people, but at the time of the meeting, the number of people was estimated at 1,000.

First M. E. church of Des Moines, Ia., and Dr. Berry, editor of the Epworth Herald of Chicago, arrived last night.

The latter speaks this afternoon at 7:30 p. m. in the Episcopal church and delivers some other addresses besides. Dr. Eaton lectures for the first time tomorrow evening on "The Hope of the Stars."

The attendance so far has been very satisfactory. It was estimated by the management that about 3,500 people, including those who are encamped on the ground and those who came out from the city, heard Rev. Robert McIntyre last night on "Thirty Hours in the Sunless World" and it is expected that this number will be increased tonight, when he speaks again.

Twelve hundred season tickets were sold yesterday. Most of these were taken by campers on the grounds, but a number were purchased by the general public. Mrs. J. R. Woodcock of Tecumseh, Mo., is to conduct the work of the Junior League, arrived this morning.

Miss Beebe and Miss Rankin came in with some orders from Cambridge today. Considering the distance that covers is from Lincoln, the members of the party think it deserves credit for the large number sent.

Among the many amusing requests for information that are made at headquarters was one this morning asking if the mail would be distributed to the tents. The man with the large idea of the blessed one of a free delivery system was called at headquarters for their letters.

Miss Howard of Ashland is treasurer of the assembly and has an office at headquarters. Professor Appadoc, in charge of the

BURKETT IS NOMINATED ON THE FIRST BALLOT

Hon. E. J. Burkett of Lincoln was last night nominated by the republicans of the First district to succeed Congressman J. B. Strode. Only one ballot was taken, as there was very little opposition to Burkett.

The nomination of Burkett was unanimous. The convention was short. Speeches were made by several prominent republicans and after adopting a platform the convention adjourned. Burkett's only opponent was Judge John S. Stull of Nemaha county.

The First district congressional convention was called to order in the Punks, opened shortly after 8 o'clock by H. M. Bushnell, chairman of the congressional committee. For temporary chairman A. W. Walle of Oke county was chosen.

The business of the convention was rushed through with haste, as many of the delegates wished to return home last night. The delegates entered in a body and took seats in the boxes. Several ladies occupied seats in the boxes. Among the spectators were noticed several candidates for the nomination of Burkett.

Chairman Walle thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him, and on motion the temporary chairman was made permanent by a unanimous vote. Chairman Walle again expressed his gratification, but remarked that he thought he was best qualified to assist in the business of the convention.

musical work of the assembly, will organize a chorus to do heavy strategy work and study some of the choruses from Mozart and Haydn. He will have as large as possible and will welcome any from the city who wish to join.

The public does not seem to realize yet that no tickets will be sold on Sunday. The tickets will be sold on Saturday and are not for sale at headquarters, but at the gate and at designated places up town.

The patriotism of the campers has manifested itself in a sign placed over the entrance to the grounds, which reads "DeWey Bridge." The lunch stands are numerous and do a large business.

Among the many amusing requests for information that are made at headquarters was one this morning asking if the mail would be distributed to the tents.

Everybody gave the speaker interested attention during the entire lecture.

Rev. McIntyre Talks

Last evening Rev. Robt. McIntyre, the lecturer of the day, gave his delightful lecture on "Thirty Hours in the Sunless World." He won the good nature of the audience by telling a joke on himself, after which he proceeded to his subject.

His lecture was rich in beautiful word pictures of his travels. He said: "Manitowish cave is the most wonderful of our formations in America. You may have seen Niagara, Grand Cañon, and the Grand Canyon, but Niagara does not compare with Manitowish cave, which is one of power and grandeur, while the other is a mere plaything in the dark recesses of the immense cave, there is a spirit of mystery that charms the mind and awakens the imagination."

Mr. Burkett was again called for and the congressional nominee came forward and spoke for the honor. Mr. Burkett said that he was secretary and treasurer of the town college association a year.

Mr. Burkett thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him, and on motion the temporary chairman was made permanent by a unanimous vote.

The motion was seconded by the chairman of Richardson county, and the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Burkett's success in the campaign committee of the state party and work for the success of the republican party, he thought was a great one. The speaker said, "I can not praise the executive business enough and we want a man of that kind to be our president."

Ed Ricketts was assigned to the experimental station at the state farm in order to assist Dr. Peters in his tests with hog cholera.

A proposition was made and adopted by the board to advertise for the purchase of a horse for the state farm. The advertisement was published in the Lincoln Evening News-Call.

The committee was sent out to confer with the nominees as to the selection of officers who would be agreeable to them. On their return the elections were made as stated.

According to some reports that were circulated, J. H. Edminster, who has been chairman for several years, was an aspirant once more. If so, the instruction to confer with the candidates killed whatever chances he may have had. He is now in such favor with the present state officers, although he has been visiting of theirs in the statehouse offices. They have no feeling of great confidence in him, so the story goes.
