

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION NOW IN SESSION.

Attendance is the Largest in the History of the Organization—Excellent Arrangements.

(By Associated Press.)

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 6.—With the largest attendance on record, the twentieth international convention of the Christian Endeavor society began today. Cool weather favored the delegates; and the business session with which the convention began was carried on in a pleasant atmosphere, after the severe hot weather of the past few days. During the early hours receptions and rallies were held at different state headquarters. The delegates then marched by routes to the auditorium where the opening session of the convention was held. Addresses of welcome were followed by the annual report of the officers and business agents. This evening the regulation welcoming addresses will be heard. President Clark will deliver his annual address and Secretary Baer will deliver his report on the society's progress during the past year.

AUDITORIUMS ESTABLISHED.

Three large auditoriums and a large hall have been arranged on the old exposition grounds. A large platform has also been constructed in Washington park for over flow open air meetings. Music hall has been designated as "Auditorium Endeavor." Power hall is called "Auditorium Williston" and horticultural hall is known as "Auditorium Ohio." O'Dean hall is the fourth in this group.

PHENOMENAL GROWTH.

General Secretary John Willis Baer in his annual report, said: "In 1891, the close of the first decade of Christian Endeavor, there were 18,274 societies. In 1901, at the close of Christian Endeavor's second decade, we must employ the same numerals, though differently arranged, to tell our strength. For the 16,724 societies have become 61,427. The nearly one million members have become nearly four millions."

CORPORATION ELECTS.

At the business meeting of the United Society of Christian Endeavor (the corporation), the following officers were re-elected: Francis E. Clark, Boston, president; Wm. Shaw, Boston, treasurer; John W. Baer, Boston, general secretary; W. F. Kidder, Boston, auditor. A new position of field secretary was created and Rev. Clarence E. PRINCESS IS PLAINTIFF.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK THE WILL OF C. P. HUNTINGTON.

His Adopted and Titled Child Will Demand a Daughter's Portion of the Large Estate.

(By Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Cal., July 6.—The Chronicle says. From sources thoroughly well informed and entitled to credence, comes the statement that Princess Hatzfeldt has already begun legal proceedings which, though not technically a will contest, amount in reality to an attempt to set aside, in part at least, the last testament of her foster father, Collis P. Huntington. Suit, it is declared, was started in New York some months ago by Princess Hatzfeldt for a daughter's share of the estate, based on the alleged contract entered into by C. P. Huntington at the time he took the princess, then Clara Prentice, from her mother, the sister of the first Mrs. Huntington, to support and rear.

WAUKAU HAD CELEBRATION.

Residents of That Village Did Not Forget the Fourth.

(Special to The Northwestern.)

Waukau, Wis., July 6.—Despite the fact that a blustering day and frequent showers during the day prevented the carrying out of some of the plans of the committee on arrangements, the Fourth of July celebration at this place was a success and fully up to the expectations of the visitors from other places.

Early in the morning loads of people from surrounding towns and the country hereabouts were arriving; the village presenting a holiday appearance gayly bedecked in flags and bunting. Samuel Woodworth of Randolph delivered the address on the public square, fronting the M. E. church and not less than one thousand people listened attentively to one of the most stirring and original addresses ever delivered in this section. The declaration of independence was well read by V. H. Wood. A band of fifteen pieces from Poyssippi entertained during the forenoon which otherwise would have been dull and gloomy on account of the rain.

The parade, headed by the band, marched the entire length of the Main street in the afternoon and the floats representing the business interests of Waukau were fully as well gotten up and arranged as those in places of several times the population of Waukau.

At four o'clock in the afternoon the crowd assembled at Washburn park where the local ball team met a nine from Rush Lake. With no desire for egotism we feel licensed to say that the Waukau team, under the captaincy of Bernard Hemp can play as fast and errorless a game of baseball as any of their age in this section of Wisconsin. They are all school boys, of ages ranging from sixteen to eighteen years but they play with the precision and coolness of veterans. It proved a Waterloo for Rush Lake, the visitors retiring at the close of the game badly outclassed and beaten to the tune of seventeen to one. Homer Hemp, the doughty twirler for the locals, struck out seven men during the game and the team work generally was excellent.

Refreshments were served during the day at the Modern Woodmen hall and a ball given there in the evening was well attended and conducted. The day's celebration closed with a fine display of fireworks in the evening. The officers of the day were Joseph Alger marshal, E. H. Hemp, Ole Bullis, Herbert Washburn and Charles Steele, committee on arrangements, and to their efforts, aided by the citizens of Waukau, is due the success of the entire day's celebration. Many fun Omro and Eureka, came up in the afternoon owing to the fact that Waukau seemed to be out classing its neighbors in villages in carrying out the original plans of the celebration.

Successfully Defended Herself.

In the Jefferson Market police court at New York today John A. Plannack sued Miss Josie Corvesson, his former sweetheart, for the recovery of a diamond ring he alleged he had loaned her. Miss Corvesson appeared on her own attorney. She advanced to the judge with a package of letters, and said: "Your honor, I am here to conduct my own defense. Here it is." And she handed over the package of letters, continuing: "They are all from the plaintiff, and you will see that they contain promises of jewelry. Others will inform you that he occasionally showed that he cared for me. I respectfully refer your honor to the one marked with a star." The magistrate after examining the letters remarked: "Young lady, you are an excellent pleader. You know how to take care of yourself." The letters prove conclusively that the complainant is suffering from a very bad attack of jealousy. I will discharge you."—New York Paper.

WILL BE A SPECIAL TRAIN.

Business Men Will Leave Oshkosh at 9 a. m. Over the Central Road on July 11—No Women or Children to Accompany the Party—Central Railway Officials Doing Everything for the Success of the Outing.

The committee in charge of the business men's excursion to Waupaca and the Chain o' Lakes to be given under the auspices of the board of self to Colonel Theodore J. Wain, on Thursday, July 11, as a complimentary to that event which promises to be a pleasant outing and one which will be taken advantage of by a large number of Oshkosh business men and citizens.

A special train of eight coaches has been arranged for through the courtesy of the Wisconsin Central Railway company. The train will leave Oshkosh at nine o'clock in the morning, arriving at Waupaca at 10:30. The return trip will be made at 8 p. m. arriving at Oshkosh at 9:30. Arrangements have been made with the management of the electric street car company for special accommodations for the excursionists in transportation between Waupaca and the Chain o' Lakes, at a low rate of expense and ample accommodations have been provided for at the Grand View hotel. Steamer trips about the lakes will be a feature of the outing. There are three hotels in the city also and it is expected that a number of the visitors will spend a part of the day in viewing the city and surrounding country. The committee will arrange for badges for all the guests and it is expected that the officials and citizens of Waupaca will arrange some sort of reception or entertainment for the visitors. Indeed, the attendance of about 400 to 500 of Oshkosh's progressive citizens. The mayor, members of the common council and the board of public works are expected to be among the party and the superior street macadamizing of that city will be made a study of, with a view to ascertaining what arrangements can be made to secure some of the crushed granite from the city to use for street repairs in Oshkosh. The tickets have been placed at low figures and are in the hands of W. B. Stickney, secretary of the Board of trade and O. A. Haase, of the arrangement committee.

NO WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

A feature of the excursion is that there will be no women or children in the party. It is to be composed entirely of business men and citizens and will be strictly a "stag party." The purposes of the excursion are to give the business men a pleasant outing, to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with the business men of the visited city and to bring into closer relationship the business interests of Oshkosh, through a pleasant companionship of a summer outing. It is a general excursion but, not, in the general sense, a public excursion. As evidence of the efforts of the Wisconsin Central people to do everything possible to make the day a pleasant one for Oshkosh business men the following letter from J. C. Poul, general passenger agent at the road to S. J. Sullivan, superintendent will be of interest: "Dear Sir: The board of trade of Oshkosh intend having a business meeting at Waupaca on Thursday, July 11th, and I would ask that you kindly arrange for a special train of coaches to leave Oshkosh at 9 a. m. of that date, returning leave Waupaca eight o'clock the same evening. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Dr. Buckley Calls It An "Absurd Paradox of Christianity."

Dr. J. M. Buckley, the editor of The New York Christian Advocate, contributes to The North American review an article entitled, "The Absurd Paradox of Christian Science," in which he subjects some of the leading beliefs of the cult founded by Mrs. Eddy to searching examination. Dr. Buckley repudiates the claim that Mrs. Eddy's book, "Science and Health," agrees with and interprets the bible, on the ground that the bible, as a number of passages, recognizes the actual existence of diseases of various sorts and the efficacy of medicines and other material correctives in curing them. The teachings of Christ, Dr. Buckley contends at length, are absolutely at variance with those of the prophetess of New Hampshire, and, so far from her system being christian, she can harmonize her theory with christianity only by reading into christianity the dreams of her heated fancy. Dr. Buckley lays emphasis upon the practical absurdity in which the application of Christian Science principles involves its votaries, and he finds a conclusive argument against the Christian Science idea that medicines cure only through the patient's belief in them in the fact that the curative properties of many substances were discovered by pure accident. He thus describes the functions and office of a physician worthy of the name, as distinguished from the so-called "healers" of Christian Science: "An intelligent, educated, experienced, and candid physician studies both the mind and the body, relieves the sick man of the responsibility of treating himself, strengthens him by hope, and encourages him by his personal presence and manner. He understands the mineral, plant, and animal substances included in materia medica; he knows that no medicine, but inherited vitality, is the primary cause of health and healing, and of the repair of injuries. He knows also by observation and experiment that nature can be assisted, but he interferes only when it is necessary and safe. Such a physician is too earnest and too honest ever to do he knows not what because he knows not what to do. He can relieve the pains of incurable diseases, smooth the pathway of sufferers to the inevitable end, and to convalescents he can give such hygienic hints as may prevent a recurrence of the malady or avert it from something else. Certain that all men must die and that all die of old age, he claims by hygiene, medicine, and surgery to assist nature to delay the inevitable, and to render the journey to it more endurable."

SHOCKED BY ELECTRICITY.

Eugene Clark, Motorman Winnebago Traction Company, Has Close Call.

Motorman Eugene Clark of the Winnebago Traction Co. was badly shocked Wednesday evening by receiving a full charge of current through his body, while assisting in changing a trolley pole in top of one of the cars at the High street corner. It is supposed the trolley pole and wire separated and that Mr. Clark took hold of the pole and wire at the same time thereby forming a conductor of his body. The shock paralyzed him so that he fell from the top of the cars to the ground a distance of about twelve feet, but fortunately alighted on his feet. He was considerably dazed at first but the attending physician states that he was not seriously injured. The flesh of one of his hands and a foot was slightly burned.

His Demise Occurs Unexpectedly in Switzerland—Old Age Said to Be the Cause.

(By Associated Press.)

Prince Von Hohenlohe's death was generally unexpected here, as he left Berlin several weeks ago, apparently in good health, although his increasing weakness was evident. The prince arrived at Ragatz, extremely exhausted. His death is attributed to the weakness of old age. The arrangements for the transportation of the body to Germany and for the obsequies are not yet definitely determined upon but, it is expected that the remains will be conveyed to the Hohenlohe ancestral home, at Schillingen, Bavaria, where the family vault is situated and where the body of Prince Von Hohenlohe's wife is interred.

A LATE HOUR AWAKENING.

Property Owners on Algoma Street Wish the Oshkosh Street Railway Company Had Been Compelled to Live Up to Its Franchise.

At the meeting of the Algoma street property owners held at the city hall on Friday evening the question of the liability of the Winnebago Traction company to repair the streets used by its successor, the Oshkosh Street Car company, was brought up. C. W. Radford first brought the matter before the meeting by stating that he understood that the Winnebago Traction company, in purchasing the property of the Oshkosh Street Car company, assumed its liabilities. Under the franchise of the earlier company it was required to keep the streets between its tracks in repair. It now appears that the part of the street between the places where the rails were laid is the worst in the street. Mr. Radford expressed himself in favor of the board of public works keeping exact account of the expense of the cost of such work, the amount to be charged to the traction company. Alderman Stevenson asked Mayor Mulvaney if the statement of Mr. Radford was correct and if the city has any hold upon the company to force it to stand the expense of such repairs. The mayor stated that "unfortunately" it is too late. He asserted that when the franchise was granted to the new company he urged that the new company be obliged under the contract to assume the liabilities of its successors but the matter was voted down by the council and there is now no way the company can be made to do anything in the matter, although he admitted in reply to a question of Col. John Hicks that the matter had never been passed upon by any lawyer. Mr. Radford expressed his opinion that the city should not grant the company any more rights until it should make such repairs, as it is morally bound to do so.
