Harp Melodies of Wales to English words, at the Welsh church, Light street, Thursday, July 10, by Prof. Wm. Apmadoc, of Chicago. Accompanist, Miss Morgan, Picketts. Admission, 25c.

J. Howard Jenkins, of this city, and B. K. Miller and Dr. Farnham, of Milwaukee, spent the Fourth of July fishing for trout on the preserves of Messrs. Miller and McLeod. ## A LOVING SON.

John Duggan Is Given Thirty Days in Work House to Learn Better Manners.

John Duggan was arrested Tuesday evening by Officer Guilliame upon the charge of drunk and disorderly conduct and this morning he was sentenced by Judge Goss to thirty days in the work house, with an alternative of paying a fine of $20 and costs. He did not have the money. Chief of Police Dowling asked for a heavy sentence for Duggan, stating that his mother, Mrs. Duggan aged seventy-seven years of age, had made complaint that the son who is not working came home at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, drunk and not finding dinner warm, which by the way she had kept warm for over two hours after the regular hour, he swore at her, called her opprobrious names and tipped the table over. She is a poor woman who lives alone and receives no support from this son who the chief says is no comfort and nothing but a detriment to her. The chief says that at the expiration of his present sentence he will be re-arrested upon the charge of vagrancy.

AMUSEMENTS.

Prof. William ApMadoc, musical director in the High schools of Chicago, will give a recital on Thursday evening in the Welsh C. M. church on Light street, accompanied by Miss Hannah Enid Morgan of Picketts. The recital is one of the Cambrian song romances, treating of the development of the old and beautiful Cambrian songs from the earliest times, giving some of them in the ancient language of the Druids, and of the present day. Old Keltic lyrics, pastorals and martial songs, incomparable for their beauty and power, will be interspersed with stories and remarks upon the melodic conception of the bard-harpists of ancient and modern Wales. Mr. Apmadoc gave a similar recital in this city a year ago which was well attended and which was a most entertaining and instructive event.

YACHT CLUB GETS PARK.

Common Council Grants Rights Desired and This Means That North Park Will Become Popular As Result of Inland Lake Regattas.

The common council at its meeting on Tuesday evening passed a resolution authorizing the board of park commissioners to enter into an agreement with the Oshkosh Yacht club by which the club is to have the use of a portion of the park; viz., the point on the northeast extremity, for the erection of a club house, and the use of the outer or first lagoon for a harbor of refuge, it being understood that the club will, at its own expense, move the bridge from its present location to the narrow neck between the two lagoons. Several of the aldermen expressed themselves as in favor of the plan; but three aldermen opposed it, Alderman Kloeckner upon general principles, Alderman Voss because he was instructed to do so by his constituents, and against his own judgment, and Alderman Frank, in behalf of Frank Percey.

Col. H. I. Weed, chairman of the committee of the yacht club, and C. D. Cleveland, Jr., secretary of the club, were both present and were permitted to address the council in the matter. The matter came up for consideration upon a report from the special committee to which the matter had been referred by the council at a previous meeting. The committee reported in favor of authorizing the park board to enter into an agreement with the yacht club, and the park board had also signed the report as an endorsement.

Upon the suggestion of Alderman Leach, Col. H. I. Weed, chairman of the yacht club committee, was called upon to address the council. Colonel Weed explained that the yacht club has asked for the use of the plat in the park for the location of a club house, and for the use of the lagoon, in order that it may have a suitable place to entertain and take care of the annual regattas of the Inland Lake Yachting association, which are to be held every year in Oshkosh. He explained that such meetings being held here will mean that a large number of wealthy people will come to the city every year for a summer outing and the result will be that Oshkosh will become one of the most prominent summer resorts in the northwest. These people, he explained, spend lots of money and will be here for several weeks, and the benefit to the city will more than any convention could be. The present yacht club house is so far from the course that to get there the yachtsmen have practically sailed one race before the race proper is started, and after it is over, and the men are all tired out, they have to sail way back again. This is not convenient, he said, and it is the purpose of the club to lay a course off the point opposite the club house, and make a harbor just around the point, in the lagoon. The club proposes to move the bridge at its own expense and the harbor will be something which will be appreciated by all persons owning boats, whether they are members of the yacht club or not. He said that the committee had talked first of building an outside harbor, but had ascertained that to do so would cost about $11,000, which makes the plan out of the question. He said that such a harbor would be impracticable, as the sewer empties into the lake at that point and to make an outer harbor would cause the sewage to back up there and deposit in the bay, causing such a breeding place of disease as to make it entirely out of the question. He spoke of the great benefit the regattas will be to the city, although individually the yacht club nor council members may get no direct benefit from them.

EXCURSION TO WAUPACA.

Thursday, July 10, 1902, via the Wisconsin Central. Round trip, $1.00. Under the auspices of Phil Sheridan Post, No. 10, and Phil Sheridan Woman's Relief Corps, No. 38. Special train leaves Oshkosh at 8 a. m. All are welcome.

OPPOSED BY KLOECKNER.

Alderman Kloeckner opposed the resolution, stating that as the city has expended $25,000 in fixing up that lagoon he is opposed to giving away the city's property. He said that to remove the bridge would be to surrender the city's rights and give the yacht club a hold on the city's neck.

Alderman Voss said that personally he was in favor of the resolution, but many of his constituents object to the proposition and as their representative he could not vote aye. He said that he realized the benefits to be derived from the regattas and he would like to see the change made, as it would cause North Park avenue to be opened up directly into the park, which would be a personal benefit to him. He suggested that if the proposition could be amended so as to provide for a draw or lift bridge he would be at liberty to approve of it.

C. D. Cleveland, Jr., reiterated what Mr. Weed had said about the benefits to the city to be derived by the annual regatta, although he protested that the club members have nothing to gain personally by the event, which will be a source of expense and labor to them. He said that it would be a great advertisement for the city and the club does not ask the city to give away anything nor to go to the expense of making any changes, that expense being provided for by the club. He said he did not believe that any one who would carefully look the matter over could find that any one was being injured by the proposition. As to changing the Irving street drive from a straight to a circuitous route, that is the custom in parks, he said, and in no park will one find all the roads laid out in a straight line. The removal of the bridge, he said, will injure no one, while it will prove to be a great benefit to all boating interests. He said that the club expects to receive the assistance of the government in dredging a harbor according to the appropriation made by congress, which provides for a harbor in Miller's bay. If the club can show the engineer that it has the use of the lagoon for a harbor, the chances are that such work can be done and will be done by the government. He said that the use of the lagoon is necessary to the success of the project and the refusal of its use would defeat the project.

WEISBROD FAVORED IT.

Alderman Weisbrod said that he represents the same constituents as Alderman Voss, but he believes that if the popular opinion is followed and the project killed, the same ones who are now objecting will say to the aldermen afterward: "You ought not to have paid any attention to the objections. You had inside knowledge of the affair and knew just what it would mean, and you ought to have used your best judgment." For himself he was willing to take the chances. He referred to the Elks' carnival as an example of what the younger element in Oshkosh will do for the city if only given a chance, and the regatta will be even greater than the carnival. In reply to a question by Alderman Rowland, Mr. Weed said that the club expects not only to move the bridge, but to make the approaches as accessible as they are at present. Alderman Frank said that he is disposed to be fair in the matter, but as there is objection to the project, he believes that the residents ought to have a right to come before the council and make such objections. He suggested that the matter be laid over until another meeting. Mr. Cleveland said that the only objection to that is that Major Warren, United States engineer, is coming here today, and the club wants to assure him of the right to use the lagoon, so as to secure the work of dredging.

Alderman Frank thought it was "too sudden," and believed the people should have the right to object.

MAYOR MULVA FAVORS IT.

Mayor Mulva said that the meetings of the park board are always open, and at none of them had there been any person present to protest. He said that he has never been found willing to give away any of the city's rights, but this is not a case of giving away any rights. The city retains the property, merely giving the club the right to use it and he believed that any one who would take the trouble to look the ground over would see that there is no harm done in using the lagoon for a harbor of refuge, while the regattas will be of benefit to all boatmen. Alderman Kloeckner remarked that as $25,000 had been expended on the lagoon, to give the use of it free would be giving away rights. However, so far as he was concerned the lagoon might be used for raising "bull" frogs. Mayor Mulva acknowledged that it was true that money had been expended on the lagoon, but said that it contained only water and water was cheap in Oshkosh, besides which, the yacht club would not take any water away with it. Alderman Gunz dealt a hot shot by observing that some of the aldermen who were most heartily in favor of giving away a portion of High street to a bank are the ones who now make the most fuss about the city's rights. He moved that the report be adopted. Alderman Lichtenberger suggested that he feared that the proposition would be killed if put to a vote. He said that it is a matter of great moment to Oshkosh, and he would suggest that, if it can be done, the matter be delayed until such objecting tax payers could be shown what the proposed changes are and perhaps reconciled to the change.

Alderman Weisbrod said that the matter has been under consideration for some time, but no protests have been filed in writing or otherwise except personal kicks. Alderman Frank said that the one he had heard object was Frank Percey, who had been once to the city hall to see the mayor. The alderman suggested that Mr. Percey has improved the property north of Irving street to the extent of over $10,000 and his wishes are entitled to consideration.

Alderman Stevenson observed that Mr. Percey's property would be benefited by the change.

The mayor called for the vote and the resolution granting the yacht club the desired right carried by the following vote: Ayes—Aldermen Riley, Diacon, Foster, Leach, Gunz, Klug, Lichtenberger, Klapproth, Beglinger, Stevenson, Villwock, Hagene, Rowland, Weisbrod, Schneider; noes—Aldermen Kloeckner, Frank. Alderman Voss asked to be excused, as he could not vote both ways, and while approving the placing of the club house in the park, could not vote permitting the removal of the bridge.

FRIDAY NIGHT CAUCUSES.

Some Interesting Contests Expected —La Follette Workers Say County Is Safe By Big Majority.

On Friday evening, between the hours of 7:30 and 9 o'clock, Republican caucuses will be held throughout the county in every town, village and city to elect 117 delegates to the Third assembly conventions to be held Saturday. These conventions in turn will elect thirty delegates, ten from the First, nine from the Second and eleven from the Third district to the state convention to be held in Madison July 16, when an entire state ticket will be nominated. As to the outcome of the contest in Winnebago county, there is but one result possible according to those familiar with the situation, and that is, La Follette will win out with but few contests. La Follette workers are not desirous of antagonizing the opponents of the governor here and, though they are making no public declaration at the time of the names of those selected as delegates, still every precinct is under surveillance in case any move is made by the opponents of Governor La Follette to secure the delegates.

It has been quite freely reported that E. P. Sawyer was willing to spend money to secure the defeat of La Follette delegates in this county. Mr. Sawyer, when questioned by a Northwestern representative today, said he knew nothing whatever about the matter—that he was not in politics.

It is generally admitted that a meeting of the anti-La Follette workers was held Saturday evening. The situation was discussed and it was decided, it is said, to make no pronounced effort at the caucuses. Nevertheless there are wards where they will make efforts to elect delegates opposed to Governor La Follette. This, it is claimed, is the case in the Fifth ward, also in the Seventh ward, and as a result the La Follette supporters will be urged to greater activity.

BOOMING HOLLISTER.

In the way of political gossip, a story is going the rounds that a ticket is being made up by those hostile to Governor La Follette, with Col. S. W. Hollister for state senator and L. H. Lawson for assemblyman from First district in order to insure the re-election of Spooner. Mr. Lawson denies the truth of the story and says that he pledged his support to Mr. Lindemann when the latter announced his candidacy for the assembly nomination. Mr. Lindemann states that, while he would vote for Governor La Follette if he was going to the state convention, he is also for John C. Spooner. The position of Messrs. Kimball and Sarau, who are candidates for the senatorial nomination, is also understood to be similar to that of Mr. Lindemann, so that Mr. Spooner's interests are safe with whichever one is nominated and it does away with any excuse of the anti-La Follette men for endeavoring to swing in other candidates for senator and assembly on the ground of protecting Mr. Spooner.

A COUNTY OFFICE FIGHT.

Down in the town of Utica, there is trouble brewing for Benjamin Edwards, who is an announced candidate for county treasurer. Mr. Edwards resides in Utica and this spring he was defeated by his townsmen for supervisor, which office he had held for years. The same opposition is being manifested to his candidacy for the treasurership and a meeting was scheduled for either last evening or tonight to prevent him securing the delegates from his own town. For this office, it is said, there will be other candidates ere long. The name of A. Christensen of the town of Winchester is mentioned in this connection.

DECIDES TO STAY.

Rev. L. C. Smith Will Not Remove to Tennessee.

Rev. L. C. Smith of 25 Union street, synodical superintendent of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church in Wisconsin, will not accept the call extended him to go to Tennessee. After considering carefully the advantages of the transfer, he has come to the final conclusion that he will remain in his present field of christian labor. This announcement of Rev. Mr. Smith's decision will be greeted with pleasure by the many friends of the pastor, both in this city and the state in general, as they would be grieved to see him depart, after twelve years' work here. The call from the Tennessee synod of the Presbyterian church, inviting him to change his field of labor from Wisconsin to the south, came unsolicited and as a surprise to Rev. Mr. Smith and while there were many advantages connected with it, home ties proved too strong for an acceptance. Rev. Mr. Smith went to Tennessee recently. He found the people very kind and hospitable and the climate delightful. The Tennessee synod consists of eastern Tennessee, western North Carolina and northern Alabama.

The weather man is mixed in his dates.

FOR ANOTHER BATH HOUSE.

Popularity of One of North Park Causes Park Board to Decide on Another Structure.

The success of the free public bath house recently established in North park has been so pronounced that at a meeting of the board Tuesday it was decided to erect another structure for the use of women and children if the funds are obtainable.

The board visited the bath house and expressed great satisfaction with the structure. The park keeper states that the only trouble with the bath house is it is not large enough to accommodate all who care to use it. There are fourteen compartments in it, and they are in use all the time. There has not been a time in years when so many people visited the park as at present, since the free bath house was established. However there is more or less abuse of the privilege and Commissioners Parker and Derksen were authorized to draft a set of rules which will be printed on cards and posted in the bath house. The park keeper has police powers and the mayor gave him implicit instructions to arrest the first one found violating such rules and call for the patrol wagon. The objectional features which obtain are many. They all emanate from one source, a set of young hoodlums about sixteen years of age, who while dressing use foul language and otherwise violate the laws of decency, and who in bathing tyrannize over and misuse younger boys. On account of the lack of room all who care to use the bath house and on account of the health of the bathers one rule which will be adopted will be the length of time which a bather may stay in the water.

The commission was unanimous in the belief that another bath house should be built. The place was selected as in a clump of trees just north of the present house. It was practically decided that if the money can be secured, and it is thought that it can be, a house similar in size and design will be made and devoted exclusively to the use of ladies and children, the first one being given over to the use of men and boys. Certain hours may be prescribed during which each class of bathers may be present, but this will not be decided until it is determined that there shall be another house. Commissioner Parker who is very enthusiastic over the park, promised to paint the new bath house if erected. Mr. Parker painted the first one and also painted the interior of the park residence free of charge, as well as furnishing the paint for the new seats.

FOR EVENING BATHING.

Commissioners Parker and Derksen were also instructed to secure suitable lights for the bath house, preferably electric lights, and to have them installed at once for the benefit of those who bathe in the evening. The commission expressed its satisfaction with the condition in which the park is being kept, and great pleasure with the popularity which has followed the new bath house. The keeper has secured a number of suits and furnishes towels to all such as need them at low rates, but the use of the bath house is free and people are at liberty to bring their own suits and towels if they choose.

OTHER MATTERS.

At the meeting of the board bids were opened for supplying gravel for roads in the park and that of Kiel Brothers was the only one received. This bid was for supplying 500 cubic yards of bank gravel at $1 per yard, hauled and spread. The bid was accepted and a contract ordered entered into. The report of Mayor Mulva shows that there is about $1,000 in the North park fund, of which $105 will be used before October 1, and there will also be about $100 for other expenses, leaving about $800. If a sufficient amount of gravel is used to make the roads in the park good, it will require about all of that amount. After the meeting, the board adjourned and took a ride in the patrol wagon to inspect North park.

The lagoon and the site for the Oshkosh Yacht club house were visited. It was the sense of the board that the bridge across the narrow neck between the two lagoons would be a good thing. That place is about opposite the end of North Park avenue and to build the bridge there and open the road would give an entrance from North Park avenue not had before. The Irving street entrance would then pass to the south of its present line and join with the North Park avenue road. The club house will be located where there is now a driveway. However, that driveway is an abandoned road and the roadway laid out is a few feet further west. There are a number of unfinished roads in the park, one of which leads directly to the proposed new site for the bridge. These roads are curbed on the sides and ballasted with stone and only need graveling to make them complete.

FINDS KIDNAPED DAUGHTER.

New Jersey Man Believes His Quest Has Been Successful.

(By Associated Press.)

Aurora, Ill., July 9.—Nicholas Nathan, of Hoboken, N. J., who came to Aurora some weeks ago searching for his long lost daughter, has finally made up his mind that Ethel Green Blum is his daughter, Mary, who was kidnaped twelve years ago at Hoboken. He believes there is a possibility that the child was brought to Aurora and substituted in some manner for a child who had died. The attorney for Nathan said that if it could not be proved that the girl was kidnaped, she would be adopted by the Nathans and will then be the sole heiress to their immense wealth.

Do you abuse ugly people? And are you above suspicion in that particular yourself?

MONEY IS SCARCE.

There Is An Unusual Demand For It in the West.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Ill., July 9.—Wide interest is beginning to attach to the unusual demand for money in the central west and west. Within a fortnight interest rates have advanced one per cent; Chicago began shipping money to the northwest and west about July 1 at the rate of $500,000 daily. It is estimated that about $4,000,000 in currency has been sent out of Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis and St. Louis. These shipments have started a demand by Chicago banks on New York. The movement from that direction has just begun.
