

SOCIETY

True to her name, Mrs. Carrie Nation was a vital part of the national life. Her name was so familiar to every householder that the announcement of her passing on to her reward cannot but shock the people of this country. The efforts of this strong character for the principles in which she believed so firmly were nothing short of heroic, yet they found their chief exponent the columns of the humorous section. Mrs. Nation knew no laws of finesse, and recognized no rights of the individual, but what she undertook was done without resorting to diplomacy and with no thought of shirking consequences. It was her fate never to be taken seriously yet no thoughtful person can deny that she was one of the strongest characters both in will and power and brain that the country has seen.

The reception committee at the Country club to-day is headed by Mrs. Frank Smock, who will be assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Jack Kuhns, Mrs. Noble Oids, Mrs. Max B. Fisher. A new station is being constructed at the Country club stop, and will be completed within a few days. The Wednesday and Saturday afternoon social affairs will be given a dinner tonight and the bridge enthusiasts are transferring their game from their own homes to the breezy porches at the pretty club house. The special feature for this evening's entertainment is the singing of the Apollo club, whose members will be given a dinner tonight by the popular new president, Mr. William B. Ralston.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Karn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karn, of West Washington boulevard, to Mr. Israel Pinkenberg, of New York city, will take place on June 22 at the Stafford hotel, Baltimore, Md. The bride has many connections on her mother's side in that city, and as her fiancé also has many relatives residing in Baltimore, it was decided to hold the wedding ceremony in that place. The service will be read at 6:30, in the drawing room of the handsome hotel, and will be followed by an elaborate dinner and dance. The list of guests will include only members of the family, who number forty. Messrs. Sam Raffel and Leo Pinkenberg have been chosen to serve as ushers and Miss Sylvia Karn will be honor maid for her sister. The wedding will be a pink and white affair and the ceremony will be held in this color, and white will be used in the dining room in combination with green. During the summer, the bride and groom will reside in a hotel in New York and will take an apartment in the fall. Miss Karn is a young woman whose personal appearance is enhanced by a charming manner, both cordial and winning. She graduated from the Fort Wayne high school four years ago and since that time had made many visits in Baltimore, where she is as greatly liked as in her own city. Mr. Pinkenberg is connected with a furniture house in New York city.

Fort Wayne folk who spend their summers at Leland, Mich., have received cards from Mrs. Alexander McKercher announcing the marriage of her daughter, Grace, to Mr. George Andrew Hildner. The ceremony took place on Wednesday, June 7, at the home of the bride. Mrs. McKercher owns much of the land about Leland and is known to the cottagers who have been visiting the beautiful resort for a number of years. The bride is a sweet, winsome young girl, and has visited Fort Wayne a number of times as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. August J. Fetzer.

A social affair of yesterday which savored both of originality and informality was Miss Kay Spencer's musicale and bridge in honor of her sister, Miss Ella Spencer, of New York, whose visit has been marked by many small social courtesies. Miss Spencer leaves the first of the week for the west, whence she will sail for an indefinite stay in Manila with another sister, and it was to give her Fort Wayne acquaintances a chance for an au revoir that Miss Spencer arranged her little party yesterday morning. The affair took place in Miss Spencer's studio in the Art school building and there were fifty guests to enjoy the beautiful songs sung in Miss Spencer's rarely rich contralto. Mr. John B. Aicher gave several piano numbers, and Miss Emil Verweire played Miss Spencer's accompaniments and a number of piano compositions as well. There were syringa blossoms, peonies and roses in great masses about the room, and at the close of her enchanting numbers Miss Spencer was given an array of pink roses. Tables where guests might play bridge were arranged about the room, and during the morning ices and cakes were served by Miss Spencer's pupils, the Misses Ethel Doud, Charlotte Sites, Vera Gocke, Edith Helt. Miss Ella Spencer assisted her nieces in receiving the guests.

Miss Sylvia Karn is visiting relatives in New York city. She has gone and will be present at the wedding of an uncle who will be married at Sherry's this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCulloch will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Reuss, Mr. and Mrs. Dreier, Mr. and Mrs. Fox and Mr. August Bruder to the Yellowstone. After seeing the wonderful park, Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch will return to Fort Wayne and the remainder of the party will continue to the far west.

Mrs. W. D. Shively and son Forrest have returned from a two weeks' visit in northeastern Ohio.

A most delightful dinner party was given in honor of Miss Myrtle Nichols by twelve of her girl friends, Thursday noon. Those participating in the pleasant event were the Misses Myrtle Nichols, Rose Guillot, Edith Cope, Irma Hardwige, Cecelia McCarthy, Mae Meyer, Estelle Beck, Marie Krudon, Anna Otten, Mary Onneck, Etellola Brokaw, Marie and Rozetta Hines. Miss Nichols will, in the near future, leave for her mother and sister to Detroit where they will make their future home.

One pre-nuptial party of Tuesday evening was that given by Mrs. H. A. Boals, of North Clinton street, in honor of her sister, Miss Anna Robinson. Mrs. Carl Lindenberg was an assisting hostess. Sweet scented mock orange blossoms and ferns were used in profusion in all the rooms. The dining room was especially lovely in its pretty decoration of green and white, and a delectable lunch was served with little cups for favors. A chair draped in tulle and white blossoms was placed at the head of the table for the bride. Games and music furnished amusement for the evening, and the bride was showered with dainty gifts of linen. Those present were the Misses Gladys Grisham, Anna Bremer, Minnie Swartz, Anna Gerrard, Mildred Cope, Edna Tarnon, Clara Heidrich, Mary Joly, Ethel Gaskill, Florence Bolyard, Kathryn Adding, Myrtle Heidrich, Mrs. B. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rurode and Miss Emma Rurode are taking an automobile trip to Decatur, Ill., where they will visit Mrs. Rurode's sister, Mrs. Isabelle Vinegarholz.

One of the pretty weddings of the week united Miss Edith Sessler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Sessler, and Mr. Ralph Sites. The wedding took place on Wednesday evening, and was solemnized at the bride's home in Dinwiddie avenue. A soft clinging robe of marquisette was worn by the bride, and her flowers were bride roses and white sweet peas. The two families and a few of the nearest relatives were witnesses. A three-course supper followed the reading of the ceremony by the Reverend J. H. McCartney. Mr. and Mrs. Sites are going to Detroit, where they will reside.

Fruechtenicht-Buesching. Another of the charming weddings which have distinguished June, took place on Thursday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church, where the Reverend Jacob Miller read the marriage service which united Miss Charlotte Buesching, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buesching, who reside near the city, and Mr. George Fruechtenicht. The bride wore the traditional satin robe, handsomely ornamented with lace and the gown was veiled with the floating tulle held at the hair with a wreath. Her flowers were white roses. The bride had her sisters as attendants. Little Miss Ella Buesching was flower girl and made a pretty picture in her airy frock of white, with basket of blossoms to scatter in the pathway of the bride. The Misses Emma and Erna Buesching were maids, and wore shiny gowns of chiffon with handsome laces and embroideries of silk by way of trimming. Sweet peas composed their bouquets and the bridesmaids in their hair. Mrs. William Fruechtenicht and Charles Buesching were attendants to the bridegroom. A wedding supper for seventy guests followed the church service, and was served at the bride's home. Mr. Fruechtenicht is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fruechtenicht, of Liberty street, and a brother of former State Representative Fruechtenicht.

A Country Party. One of the many merry parties of the country was given June 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman, who live near Maples.
