

A Political Football

Most members of Congress believe that President Eisenhower will veto any bill which would increase postal workers' pay by more than 7.6 per cent. They are also doubtful that the two-thirds vote necessary to override such a veto could be mustered. Despite this they have proceeded to pass a bill calling for an increase of more than 8 per cent.

This is pure politics. There are a great many postal workers and they all have votes. Thus members of Congress are reluctant to pass up the opportunity to do something to win those votes. By passing the higher increase bill they can claim credit, at the same time saddling the President with the unpleasant choice of signing it despite his conviction that it is financially unsound, or vetoing it and aggravating the postal workers.

If the President should veto the bill it is possible that another bill calling for an increase agreeable to him can be passed. It is also possible that not enough time will remain before the end of the session to get the bill through. In the latter case the postal workers will be out of luck for another year.

It is generally agreed that these workers need and deserve a pay boost. Why is it necessary for Congress to make a political football of that need?

The Third Napoleon

Napoleon III is being vindicated by historians. This nephew of the great Napoleon has long suffered by comparison. No genius, he is depicted in a biography by Prof. Albert Guerard of Stanford University as a humane man in advance of his time. When few rulers thought much about such things, Napoleon III strove to improve French living conditions, promote industrial development, and give the people a voice in great national decisions.

Italians owe him a debt because of his aid in freeing Italy from its remnants of Austrian rule. His participation with England in the Crimean War against Russia accomplished little, but won France a measure of military glory and helped to blur the French memory of Napoleon I's great Russian defeat.

He might have accomplished more but for a tormenting melancholy. In his last years he was never free from pain, and could not concentrate on governmental problems. Feeble administration has characterized most of the existence of France since Napoleon III abdicated from office.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Red's Wary Game

By J. M. ROBERTS

The Russians have moved very cleverly to maintain freedom of action in their current peace offensive while setting up their NATO-like military organization among the satellites.

The organization is made necessary, they said, by the impending rearmament of Western Germany. But they stand ready to dissolve it if Western Europe will only agree to join them in an all-European collective security system.

For their part, the Allies don't seem to be much worried about it either way. Russian control of the satellite armies is nothing new, and it was expected all the time that she would go through some ringer to avoid living up to her treaty commitments to withdraw her troops from Hungary and Romania when an Austrian state treaty is signed.

Indeed, the Allies were reported to be considering an idea for using the new organization for the purpose of disarming the projected Big Four conference. Under this idea, instead of aiming directly at disarmament, which would halt West German rearmament just when its prospect seems to be putting some pressure behind the movement for negotiated settlement, the proposal may be made last year but still slightly above agreed levels for the two blocs, with the two unified commands supervising.

Such an idea doesn't seem to have much chance with the Russians, whose chief objective in all of today's maneuvering is to pre-empt, one way or another, the creation of a West German army. The Collective Security idea itself was designed for that, and rejected by the Allies because of it.

The Allies are, however, morally bound to produce some plausible plan on the various issues the conference will take up, if for no other purpose than to scotch the Communist propaganda line. That line, as laid down by Stalin interpreting the policies of Lenin, is as follows:

"We Communists create slogans for the masses. Treaties embodying fresh groupings of states under an eye to war are termed 'peace treaties.' The signing of them is always effected to the accompaniment of the pipings of 'peaceful alliances.' Our preparations for a war are conducted under cover of peace. The opposition will not accept our proposals: that shows how 'genuine' is their love of peace."

There have been no indications that the Stalin's successors have backed away from this or any other basic part of the Red religion.

Vegetable Crop Above Average

AUSTIN, May 13—UP—Production of spring-crop vegetables in Texas was estimated Friday by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to be about equal to last year but 10 per cent above average.

The USDA reported smaller crops of snap beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, early and late spring potatoes, and early and late spring tomatoes.

However, the USDA said it expected those decreases to be more than offset by increases in the spring cantaloupe and early and late spring onions. The first forecast of production of watermelons and zucchini potatoes will not be made until June 10.

Acres of spring vegetables, plus the two summer crops, were estimated at nine per cent under last year but still slightly above agreed levels for the two blocs.

Main crops contributing to smaller acreage for harvest were snap beans, cantaloupes, sweet corn, cucumbers, early spring potatoes, late spring tomatoes and watermelons. Most of the reduction from last year's production was in the spring cantaloupe and early and late spring onions. Production from most of the spring crops averages from 10 days to two weeks later than usual, the USDA said.

Two Galvestonians were released from John Sealy Hospital Friday afternoon after being treated for injuries received when their automobile went out of control and overturned about one-half mile from the Causeway shortly before noon Friday.

They were Harry Pace, 28, of 2615 Avenue Q, and Mrs. Hazel LaCombe, 29, of 2215 Avenue Q (near). The sheriff's department reported that the automobile was demolished.

The Galveston Daily News

Established in 1942. Now in its 112th Year of Publication. Published Daily and Sunday by The News Publishing Co., News-Tribune Building, P. O. Box 628, Galveston, Texas.

W. L. MOODY JR., 1865-1954
President, News Publishing Co., 1223-54

MRS. MARY MOODY NICHOLSON, President

DAVID L. MOODY, Jr., P. O. Box 628, Galveston, Texas. Editor. C. E. MOORE, Jr., P. O. Box 628, Galveston, Texas. Managing Editor. A. C. BECKER, Jr., P. O. Box 628, Galveston, Texas. Assistant Editor. A. C. BECKER, Jr., P. O. Box 628, Galveston, Texas. Assistant Editor.

Subscription: Daily Exchange No. 34-331. Night (after 5:30 p.m.) and Sunday: Exchange No. 34-332. (From 5:30 p.m. to 1 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. were 50¢ and 10¢ respectively.)

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use of reproduction of all the news printed in this newspaper as well as all (AP) news dispatches.

Entered as second-class matter (April 1, 1970) at the postoffice in Galveston, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription: Daily Exchange No. 34-331. Night (after 5:30 p.m.) and Sunday: Exchange No. 34-332. (From 5:30 p.m. to 1 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. were 50¢ and 10¢ respectively.)

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use of reproduction of all the news printed in this newspaper as well as all (AP) news dispatches.

Entered as second-class matter (April 1, 1970) at the postoffice in Galveston, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription: Daily Exchange No. 34-331. Night (after 5:30 p.m.) and Sunday: Exchange No. 34-332. (From 5:30 p.m. to 1 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. were 50¢ and 10¢ respectively.)

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use of reproduction of all the news printed in this newspaper as well as all (AP) news dispatches.

Rock Island Officials Here

IN GALVESTON

MAY 14, 1908

A party of Rock Island magnates and officials arrived in Galveston Friday morning at 7:08 o'clock on a train of private cars. They were met at the Union Depot by Manager J. H. Hill of the Galveston, Houston and Henderson who chaperoned them on a drive over the city. After inspecting the Rock Island property on the bay, the party left for Houston at 10 o'clock over the Galveston, Houston and Henderson. None of the party would venture to say when Galveston could prepare to welcome the roads they represented.

ANTICIPATING labor trouble on the docks at Texas City yesterday, General Manager Guthrie of the Texas City Company on Thursday night telephoned Sheriff Henry Thomas to be on hand yesterday morning to prevent any trouble which might be brewing. Sheriff Thomas and his brother went over to the support on an early train and remained there all day. It appears that the trouble arose when a representative of Galveston railroads, who has several cars of freight to be delivered on the Texas City docks, agreed to furnish the men needed to do the unloading. This was objected to by the Texas City Longshoremen's Union, who have heretofore handled all the freight from the cars to the docks as well as from the docks to the ship. All that Sheriff Thomas would say last night was that the union men had undertaken themselves in an orderly manner.

REPAIRS on the grade-raising dredge Galveston have been completed and from now on the boat is expected to do good work. A trial trip is to be made today to determine if everything is satisfactory. Both the Holz and the Levisthan are doing excellent work and the Holz will be put on the job of cleaning the hull. The dredge George Sealy is at work in the grade raising canal between 28th and 29th streets and yesterday was discharging on the county right of way. The pipe line will be shifted to discharge on city property south of the canal shortly. It is thought that the work of constructing the canal will be completed within the next two months.

The Sealy has only four more blocks to go to reach the end of the canal right of way. A turning basin is to be excavated between 32nd and 33rd streets.

There have been no indications that the Stalin's successors have backed away from this or any other basic part of the Red religion.

The organization is made necessary, they said, by the impending rearmament of Western Germany. But they stand ready to dissolve it if Western Europe will only agree to join them in an all-European collective security system.

For their part, the Allies don't seem to be much worried about it either way. Russian control of the satellite armies is nothing new, and it was expected all the time that she would go through some ringer to avoid living up to her treaty commitments to withdraw her troops from Hungary and Romania when an Austrian state treaty is signed.

Indeed, the Allies were reported to be considering an idea for using the new organization for the purpose of disarming the projected Big Four conference. Under this idea, instead of aiming directly at disarmament, which would halt West German rearmament just when its prospect seems to be putting some pressure behind the movement for negotiated settlement, the proposal may be made last year but still slightly above agreed levels for the two blocs, with the two unified commands supervising.

Such an idea doesn't seem to have much chance with the Russians, whose chief objective in all of today's maneuvering is to pre-empt, one way or another, the creation of a West German army. The Collective Security idea itself was designed for that, and rejected by the Allies because of it.

The Allies are, however, morally bound to produce some plausible plan on the various issues the conference will take up, if for no other purpose than to scotch the Communist propaganda line. That line, as laid down by Stalin interpreting the policies of Lenin, is as follows:

"We Communists create slogans for the masses. Treaties embodying fresh groupings of states under an eye to war are termed 'peace treaties.' The signing of them is always effected to the accompaniment of the pipings of 'peaceful alliances.' Our preparations for a war are conducted under cover of peace. The opposition will not accept our proposals: that shows how 'genuine' is their love of peace."

There have been no indications that the Stalin's successors have backed away from this or any other basic part of the Red religion.

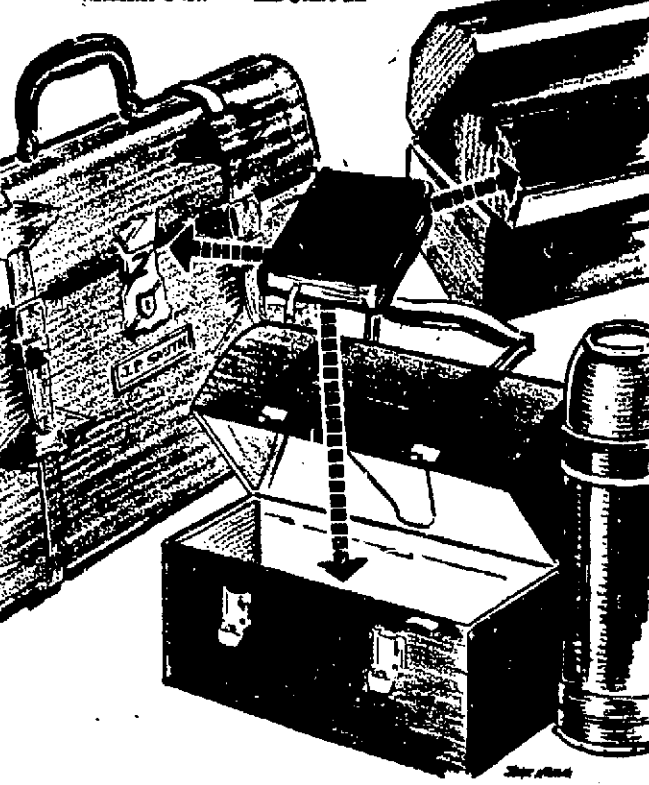

The organization is made necessary, they said, by the impending rearmament of Western Germany. But they stand ready to dissolve it if Western Europe will only agree to join them in an all-European collective security system.

For their part, the Allies don't seem to be much worried about it either way. Russian control of the satellite armies is nothing new, and it was expected all the time that she would go through some ringer to avoid living up to her treaty commitments to withdraw her troops from Hungary and Romania when an Austrian state treaty is signed.

Indeed, the Allies were reported to be considering an idea for using the new organization for the purpose of disarming the projected Big Four conference. Under this idea, instead of aiming directly at disarmament, which would halt West German rearmament just when its prospect seems to be putting some pressure behind the movement for negotiated settlement, the proposal may be made last year but still slightly above agreed levels for the two blocs, with the two unified commands supervising.

Such an idea doesn't seem to have much chance with the Russians, whose chief objective in all of today's maneuvering is to pre-empt, one way or another, the creation of a West German army. The Collective Security idea itself was designed for that, and rejected by the Allies because of it.

"BE VICE DORES OF THE WORLD, AND NOT HARRIS ONLY." — J. K. J. J.

May Festival Set Saturday In La Marque

LA MARQUE, May 13—The annual May Festival, co-sponsored by the Men's Club and the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Michael's Church, will begin at 5 p.m. Saturday.

If weather permits, a hot meal will be served on the grounds. The menu consists of barbecued chicken, green beans, creamed potatoes, and hot rolls, and lunches will be boxed for those who desire it.

There will also be hot dog and cold drink booths for those who do not want a complete meal. After dinner, there will be square dancing on the street at the rear of the church to the call of Bill Brett, well known square dancer of the Promenade Square Dance Association.

Officials have announced the grounds will be sprayed to guard against mosquitoes, and everyone is invited to attend.

Barbecue Fetes Alvin Graduate

ALVIN, May 13—The patio of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Duncan was the setting for a barbecue honoring Alvin Martin, a graduate of the 12th grade of Alvin Junior College.

Following the attractively-appointed dinner the young people enjoyed dancing. Among those present were Danny Lambden, Jim Briscoe, John Evans, Hank Patton, Duane Andrews, Leon Charleston, Skipper Johnson, Teddy Doer, Gerald McCrummen, Allen Pearson, Fred Law, Bobby Loris, Kenneth Lukens, Mary Ryan, Bobbie Jean Alexander, Barbara Slater, Clara Hendrix, Jan Cox, Marian Bradley, Geneva Terry, Kay Snider, Wanda Peterson, Sara Evans, Joyce Bubendorf, Billie Goodrich, Joyce Squires, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Johnson and Mrs. Bobby, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Martin.

Now the mayor-elect comes forth with threats to retire officials in key positions in the city, such as the police and fire commissioner, the chief of police and chief of the fire department for purely personal political reasons.

These men have been sent to schools, FBI and others, in the interest of fire fighting, etc. I am sure it put to a vote of law people they would voice their opinion that they have done as good and successful job as possible with the equipment, money and men allowed them.

The vote at the polls that elected the police and fire commissioner indicates a vote of confidence in the two men in these key positions.

The mayor was elected and the police and fire commissioner were elected, along with the rest of the commission, not to set up a one-man rule.

The editorial of this morning's News is to be commended.

L. W. FRASER,
2002 Avenue O's,
Galveston, Texas.

Surprise Party Held At Elementary School

HITCHCOCK, May 13—Students at Stewart Elementary School and their teachers were given a surprise party Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Paul Burgess, Mrs. Walter Janak, and Mrs. G. T. Karacostas, school mothers for Mrs. Minna Smith's fourth grade, served free snow cones.

Mrs. Guy Moore, also a room mother, was unable to be present. Mrs. Edward Craddock, elementary principal, and Mrs. Owen Davis assisted the room mothers in serving.

Fire Auxiliary Sets Benefit Bingo Party

DICKINSON, May 13—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Dickinson Volunteer Fire Department will hold a bingo party Saturday, from 8 until 10 p.m. at the station house. Door prizes will be awarded.

Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for the station's kitchen, a project constantly being improved by the auxiliary. Venetian blinds and various utensils have been secured by the ladies.

Soft drinks, coffee and donuts will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Joint Recital Set for June

HITCHCOCK, May 13—Hitchcock and La Marque schools of Dancing will present their third annual joint recital June 3 at 8 p.m. in the La Marque High School auditorium.

Mrs. Elvera Regini and Mrs. Doris Anagnostis, dance instructors for the classes, have announced that 60 children will participate in the recital, which is open to the public.

Mrs. Gordon M. Martin of Hitchcock is school business manager.

2 Dallasites Surrender On Theft Charges

LOS ANGELES, May 13—UP—Two Dallas men surrendered to the Los Angeles district attorney Friday on grand theft charges involving the purchase of an insurance company.

Named in a secret grand jury indictment were Ross Bohannon, 44, a Dallas attorney, and W. Solon Snowden, 38, Bohannon is a Dallas attorney and former president of the Constitution Life Insurance Co. Each was accused of 12 counts of grand theft and one count of conspiracy. They were freed after posting $1000 bail each.

They were indicted by the county grand jury on charges of contracting to buy the company for $140,000 and then paying for it by taking a loan on the firm's stock, which the indictment charged did not belong to them.

Also named in the indictment were A. D. Hudspeth who was recently arrested in Colorado, and Homer W. Snowden who was expected to surrender.

In Dallas, R. K. Prescott, attorney for Bohannon, said the charges "are ridiculous."

"This is just some more in the campaign of harassment against anybody from Texas who tried to breathe life into the insurance business in California," Prescott said.

"You have this situation: A man is indicted for buying the company for $140,000 and then putting up the stock for collateral for a loan. Who else can pledge the stock besides the owner?"

Prescott added: "The district attorney must have recognized the absurdity of these allegations when he placed a bond of only $1,000 to cover all these fantastic charges."

Peanut Supports To Continue

WASHINGTON, May 13—UP—Growth prices of peanuts will continue to be supported this year at 50 per cent of parity, the maximum under the new flexible price support program, it was announced today.

Support prices for the 1955 crop will average not less than $24.50 a ton, the same as the 1954 crop price, the agriculture department said. Support prices will be adjusted upward if parity prices increase between now and the beginning of the marketing year on Aug. 1.

OFF THE RECORD

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

VFW Post 580 will sponsor a public dance 9:30 p.m. Saturday in VFW Hall, 1013 23rd street, according to Leon Weber, dance chairman. Music for the event will be provided by The Onagers.

The closing performance of the Galveston Community Theater's production of "Time Out for Glory" will be given Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Airport Theater. The comedy is the theater's final presentation of the season.

The Eagles Lodge, 1906 Post office, will have a public dance Sunday, beginning at 9:30 p.m. Music will be by John Christensen's band.

TEMCO GETS CONTRACT
DALLAS, Tex., May 13 UP—A contract to produce photo news service for the RP-101A Air Force Dallas was awarded Thursday when jet reconnaissance plane has its jet plane crashed while on a routine training mission.

From 1921 until 1922, the artificial UP A thief broke into the auto-navy kept 45 men stationed on mobile of Adolph Allen, a Boston Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and the island was ruled as of clothes for members of the "Majesty's Ship Ascension" clerk.

New Church of Christ Opens

TEXAS CITY, May 12—Mrs. B. L. Turney will sing the solo "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" during the early morning worship service at First Methodist Church Sunday.

During the 11 a.m. worship service the choir will sing the anthem "Hark, My Soul" with solo by Mrs. M. J. Wilbanks, soprano, and Mrs. J. W. Haum, soprano. The choir is under the direction of A. R. Baker with Mrs. Baker at the organ console.

The Church of Christ, 2618 Fifth avenue north, will hold their first services Sunday in their new church with Church School classes for all ages at 10 a.m. Sunday. Prayers will begin at 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. according to the preacher, Ray Albrighton.

The new building was mostly constructed by members. Mr. Albrighton said he also holds services every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and the Ladies' Bible class meets each Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Stanley Vodka, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, announced that a congregational meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday to explain the budget for the new year.

Two film strips will be shown during the evening to explain the function of the canvass for meeting the budget. All workers in the Budget Drive are requested to attend meetings and acquaint them with the methods shown in the film strips.

"A Word of Warning to the Wise" will be the subject for the Rev. Finis A. Williams' sermon at 11 a.m. Sunday. "Provisional Grace" will be the subject for the evening worship service.

A special ordination service will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday when Riley B. Harrell, W. A. Wilson, W. S. Peeler, O. W. Walker and H. S. Robinson will be ordained as deacons, according to the Rev. Mr. Williams, who added that special music will be provided for the occasion. Pastors from all over the association will take part in the ordination service.

First Christian Church, Fourth street and Eighth avenue north, will be host to the Chancel Choir of First Christian Church of Houston Sunday evening in the presentation of "Bethany," a sacred cantata of music of the masters, written by William Appadoc.

The music is by W. Rhy. Herbert. The setting of Sunday evening's cantata will be in the Bible land of Palestine, five miles south of Jerusalem, in the home of Lazarus and his sisters, Mary and Martha, where Jesus was accustomed to visit, rest and meditate.

The cantata, recently given by

Eight Red Nations Pool Armed Might

WARSAW, Poland, May 13—UP—The Soviet Union and seven other east European Communist states, backed by pledge of support from Red China, Friday agreed to place their massive armies under a single command.

The eight Communist nations will sign a joint pact of friendship and mutual aid Saturday.

However, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said the Soviet Union is willing to scrap the eastern NATO if the West signs an agreement assuring world security as proposed by the Russians, a Moscow radio broadcast reported.

The broadcast said that Pravda said the conclusion of the eight-nation treaty does not mean "the refusal of parties to the treaty to make further attempts at creating an all European system of collective security." If such a system were established the Warsaw treaty would "cease to exist," the broadcast said.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin presided at the eight-nation meeting Friday that agreed to sign the treaty strengthening the Communist military position against rearmed Germany in the West. Communist China, attending the conference as an observer, Thursday pledged its support of the eight signatory nations in a European war.

LOCAL FOLKS AND EVENTS

CAROL E. QUEROLO, University of Texas student from Galveston, is the new contact chairman of Orange Jackets, women's service group. Miss QueroLO, a sophomore majoring in journalism, is a member of Bow and Arrow, archery club for women, and Poonia, women's badminton group. She is secretary-reporter of the Galveston Club, a staff member of the Cactus student yearbook, and is listed on the honor roll of the College of Arts and Sciences for the fall semester. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. QueroLO of 828 Broadway.

John Keith Torbert, a native Galvestonian, was honored recently by the South Orange-Maplewood Adult School association of New Jersey for "distinguished service" with the school since 1931. He is a brother of the late Emily Torbert, 3401 avenue O. Torbert attended high school here, completed university work, then returned here for a time with a bank. Later he went East and became an educator.

Frederick H. Anderson is slated to receive a bachelor of music education degree at commencement exercises May 29 at Texas Christian University.

Iris D. Clark of Galveston has received a diploma in theory and practice of gemology from the Gemological Institute of America in Los Angeles.

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

VFW Post 580 will sponsor a public dance 9:30 p.m. Saturday in VFW Hall, 1013 23rd street, according to Leon Weber, dance chairman. Music for the event will be provided by The Onagers.

The closing performance of the Galveston Community Theater's production of "Time Out for Glory" will be given Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Airport Theater. The comedy is the theater's final presentation of the season.

The Eagles Lodge, 1906 Post office, will have a public dance Sunday, beginning at 9:30 p.m. Music will be by John Christensen's band.

TEMCO GETS CONTRACT
DALLAS, Tex., May 13 UP—A contract to produce photo news service for the RP-101A Air Force Dallas was awarded Thursday when jet reconnaissance plane has its jet plane crashed while on a routine training mission.

From 1921 until 1922, the artificial UP A thief broke into the auto-navy kept 45 men stationed on mobile of Adolph Allen, a Boston Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and the island was ruled as of clothes for members of the "Majesty's Ship Ascension" clerk.

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

VFW Post 580 will sponsor a public dance 9:30 p.m. Saturday in VFW Hall, 1013 23rd street, according to Leon Weber, dance chairman. Music for the event will be provided by The Onagers.

The closing performance of the Galveston Community Theater's production of "Time Out for Glory" will be given Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Airport Theater. The comedy is the theater's final presentation of the season.

The Eagles Lodge, 1906 Post office, will have a public dance Sunday, beginning at 9:30 p.m. Music will be by John Christensen's band.

TEMCO GETS CONTRACT
DALLAS, Tex., May 13 UP—A contract to produce photo news service for the RP-101A Air Force Dallas was awarded Thursday when jet reconnaissance plane has its jet plane crashed while on a routine training mission.

From 1921 until 1922, the artificial UP A thief broke into the auto-navy kept 45 men stationed on mobile of Adolph Allen, a Boston Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and the island was ruled as of clothes for members of the "Majesty's Ship Ascension" clerk.

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

VFW Post 580 will sponsor a public dance 9:30 p.m. Saturday in VFW Hall, 1013 23rd street, according to Leon Weber, dance chairman. Music for the event will be provided by The Onagers.

The closing performance of the Galveston Community Theater's production of "Time Out for Glory" will be given Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Airport Theater. The comedy is the theater's final presentation of the season.

The Eagles Lodge, 1906 Post office, will have a public dance Sunday, beginning at 9:30 p.m. Music will be by John Christensen's band.

TEMCO GETS CONTRACT
DALLAS, Tex., May 13 UP—A contract to produce photo news service for the RP-101A Air Force Dallas was awarded Thursday when jet reconnaissance plane has its jet plane crashed while on a routine training mission.

From 1921 until 1922, the artificial UP A thief broke into the auto-navy kept 45 men stationed on mobile of Adolph Allen, a Boston Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and the island was ruled as of clothes for members of the "Majesty's Ship Ascension" clerk.

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

VFW Post 580 will sponsor a public dance 9:30 p.m. Saturday in VFW Hall, 1013 23rd street, according to Leon Weber, dance chairman. Music for the event will be provided by The Onagers.

The closing performance of the Galveston Community Theater's production of "Time Out for Glory" will be given Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Airport Theater. The comedy is the theater's final presentation of the season.

The Eagles Lodge, 1906 Post office, will have a public dance Sunday, beginning at 9:30 p.m. Music will be by John Christensen's band.

TEMCO GETS CONTRACT
DALLAS, Tex., May 13 UP—A contract to produce photo news service for the RP-101A Air Force Dallas was awarded Thursday when jet reconnaissance plane has its jet plane crashed while on a routine training mission.

From 1921 until 1922, the artificial UP A thief broke into the auto-navy kept 45 men stationed on mobile of Adolph Allen, a Boston Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and the island was ruled as of clothes for members of the "Majesty's Ship Ascension" clerk.

The Pirates Junior Optimist Club will have a fishing rodeo Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Galveston Pleasure Pier, Jimmy Huff, president, announced.

V